Ashe, Rafuse & Hill recently raised $10,000 to benefit the Boys & Girls Clubs of Metro Atlanta and Atlanta Mayor Kasim Reed's Centers of Hope initiative

Funds were raised through a silent auction and through a matching opportunity for existing clients. For every dollar donated to the two charities by existing clients during a special event last week, the firm is crediting that amount to the client's bill next month, up to $1,000 per client.

The Atlanta-based firm focuses on employment, civil rights, and commercial litigation.
